From Saturday May 28. to Tuesday May 31. 1743.

Admiralty-Office, May 30.

LETTERS are received from Commodore Anſon, giving an Account of his Arrival in the River of Canton in China, on the 11th of November laſt: and he is expected in England ſometime this Summer.

While he was in the South-Sea, he took the following Prices; A Ship of 500 Tons, 4 Guns, and 75 Men, her Cargo conſiſting chiefly of Bales of Woollen and Cotton Cloth, Bays, and Sugar, with a conſiderable Sum of Money.

Another Ship of above 600 Tons, 4 Guns, 65 Men, loaden chiefly with coarſe Bays and Sugar, with ſome Money and Plate.

Another of 300 Tons, 4 Guns, and 52 Men, loaden with Plank and Cocoa.

A fourth of about 270 Tons, loaden with Bale Goods, Iron and Steel.

Another Ship, and a Launch, having each a conſiderable Sum of Money on board, and the former laden with Wine and Brandy.

A Bark of about 60 Tons, of ſmall Value.

He alſo attacked and took the Town of Payta, with the Loſs of one Man killed, and two wounded, and found a large Sum of Money there, beſides Jewels. He kept Poſſeſſion of the Town for three Days, in order to plunder it, and then cauſed it to be ſet on Fire, in order to deſtroy ſeveral Storehouſes filled with Bale Goods, Jeſuits Bark, and other rich Commodities, which his Men were not able to bring off.

He found a Ship, two Snows, a Schooner, and two Row Gallies of 36 Oars each, in the Bay of Payta; all which he cauſed to be ſunk or deſtroyed.

Naples, May 4. Great Diſſatisfaction appears amongſt the People on Account of the Scarcity of Corn in this City, inſomuch that the King, to ſupply in ſome Meaſure that Want, has granted Liberty to the Convents and Nunneries to ſell Bread to the Publick. On the 11th a Convoy of 34 Veſſels from Apuglia and Morea, arrived at this Port with 100,000 Tomolis of Corn for this Capital, which by contrary Winds were detained for ſome Weeks in the Port of Taranto. A larger Convoy with 140,000 Tomolis of Corn is alſo daily expected from Sicily.

Rome, May 18. On the 11th ſix Saxon Noblemen arrived here from Dreſden, and on the 12th were introduced to an Audience of the Pope, to preſent to him, and the Secretary of State, on the Part of his Poliſh Majeſty, ſeveral Parcels of Saxon China; and on the 15th two of them ſet out for Naples to carry alſo ſeveral Preſents of China to their Neapolitan Majeſties.

Florence, May 21. The Duke of Modena, by the freſheſt Accounts from Rimini, arrived there from Chioza by Sea on the 9th Inſtant. He was complimented at Landing by M. de Gages, attended by the General Officers, ſaluted by the Cannons of the Caſtle, and received with ſuch Formalities by the Spaniſh Troops, as are paid to a Generaliſſimo. His Highneſs dined that Day with M. de Gages, and in the Evening went to lodge at the Palace prepared for his Reception, where a Guard was ordered to attend his Highneſs, who, 'tis ſaid, has accepted from the Spaniſh Court, the Commiſſion of Generaliſſimo of theſe Troops. The General Officers have received Orders to pay the Duke of Modena the ſame Court as to Don Philip. The Auſtrian, Sardinian, and Spaniſh Armies in Lombardy and the Romagna, continue in their former Situation. The Regiment of Spleni Hungarians join'd lately M. de Traun's Army from Germany, and that of Anderhaſi was in full March to follow. M. de Traun has cauſed all the Fortreſſes in the States of Milan, Parma, and Modena to be ſufficiently garriſon'd and ſtored with the neceſſary Ammunition, &c. On the 17th the Dutcheſs of Modena, attended by the Princeſs Felicita her eldeſt Daughter, and their reſpective Attendants, paſſed thro' this City incognito from Arezzo; her Highneſs avoided receiving any publick Compliments, and in her Poſt-Chaiſe went only for Devotion to the Church of the Annunciation, and to the Chapel of St. Lawrence. Thence ſhe ſtopt at Marqueſs Tempi's Villa out of the Gates of the City, where the Regency in a Body, the Foreign Miniſters, and many of the Nobility, were to compliment her Highneſs, and after having accepted of a Dinner, which Prince Craon had ordered to be prepared on that Occaſion, to which the Members of the Regency, the Foreign Miniſters, and many Ladies and Gentlemen were invited, proceeded on her Journey by Piſa, Lerici, &c.

Copenhagen, May 25, N. S. Yeſterday being the firſt publick Day ſince the Court removed to Fridericksbourg, the Appearance there was greater than uſual; but the Queen did not dine in Publick, having been adviſed by the Phyſicians to keep her Chamber on account of a ſlight Indiſpoſition, attributed to the Freſhneſs of the Country Air. The Princeſs of Ooſtfrize, her Majeſty's Siſter, ſet out the ſame Morning for Carlsbad, in order to uſe the Waters there for the Recovery of her Health. The young Count Daneſchiold-Larwig, Captain in the Regiment of Foot Guards, and M. Sliegel, Marſhal of the Margrave's Court, have received the Order of Danbrogg.

Prague,

[Price Four-pence.]

Prague, May 25, N. S. We have the following farther Particulars of what paſſed previous to the taking of Deckendorf, viz. That when Prince Charles ſummoned the Garriſon at Landau to ſurrender, they twice refuſed, which ſomewhat embarraſs'd our Generals, as having no heavy Artillery with them; but that to his Highneſs's great Surprize, he ſaw in the Night between the 18th and 19th Inſtant, the whole Town in a Flame. The French, it ſeems, had only gained Time to pillage it themſelves, and having driven the poor Inhabitants, almoſt naked, into a paliſaded Church-yard, juſt out of the Reach of the Flames, ſet Fire to ten different Places of the Town, and eſcaped over the Iſer in the ſame Manner as at Dingelfing. Prince Charles diſtributed Money and Proviſions amongſt the poor Inhabitants, who had not taſted Bread for two Days, and he left with them in particular 120 Sacks of Corn which had eſcaped the Flames. Nothing can equal the preſent Hatred and Animoſity of the Bavarians towards the French; they come in Numbers to give all Sorts of Intelligence, and to offer any Service that can tend to their Deſtruction. Others fly from all Parts out of Bavaria, and particularly into the Biſhoprick of Saltzbourg, to find preſent Suſtenance for Life. From Landau the Prince marched to Poring, and from thence intended to reach the Danube over-againſt Neider-Alt-Aich, and to bring his Bridge up thither from Vilſhoven; by which Means it is propoſed to clear the Danube from the Mouth of the Iſer to Paſſau, as well in order to bring up the great Artillery, as the heavier Magazines, there being no Hopes of finding Forage in the whole Extent between the Inn and the Iſer, notwithſtanding the advanced Seaſon, the French having hindred the Inhabitants from ſowing the Grounds. It is thought the French will, if neceſſary, make themſelves Maſters of Ratisbon, having already, it is ſaid, Cannon ſo pointed as to command an Entrance at Pleaſure. General Tornaco having burnt a Magazine at a ſmall Diſtance from Deckendorf, the Flames of it which the Courier, in paſſing from Dingelfing, ſaw on the Deckendorf Side of the Danube, gave Occaſion to his believing and reporting that that Town was on Fire.

Extract of a Letter from Landſhut, May 27. I returned hither laſt Night at Seven of the Clock, from a Detachment of 600 Horſe which was ſent from hence to attack a Body of Auſtrian Huſſars and Croats near Dorffen. We marched all Night, and having got Sight of the Enemy by Nine of the Clock the next Morning, we attacked them haſtily, and without putting ourſelves into Order. The Enemy having been appriſed of our March, and ſeeing us a great Way off, ſtood their Ground, and waited for our coming up. They had greatly the Advantage over us. Our Horſes were tired by the March, which was very long. The Enemy were ſuperior to us in Number, and were ſupported by 3 or 400 Foot, who came out of the Town for that Purpoſe. They had alſo the Advantage of the Ground over us. We attacked them twice with great Reſolution, though without any Order, and without the Aſſiſtance of their Foot they would certainly have been all cut off. Their Fire obliged our Troops to retire, and we having Defilés to paſs, were ſoon diſperſed and purſued. One Colonel and a Major were taken Priſoners. The Lieutenant Ferrari was wounded and taken. We did not loſe a great many Men; but the Priſoners, and thoſe that yet remain diſperſed in the Woods, amount to a good Number. Major Monchlas, who commanded the Horſe Grenadiers, and I, were left alone at the End of the Skirmiſh, and ſeeing no Hopes left, and having not one of our Men to back us, and there being about a Score of Huſſars within 50 Yards of us, we made the beſt of our Way to the Wood, and threw ourſelves into the thickeſt Part of it. The Major was taken, but I was ſo far in it that they could not find me; and getting a Guide at the firſt Village, I was conducted ſafe to Landſhut.

Hoechſt, June 3. This Morning all the Britiſh Foot march'd into the New Camp about half a Mile on the other Side of the Mein, over two Bridges laid for that Purpoſe in different Places. To-morrow the Hanover Infantry, and ſix Squadrons of their Cavalry, march into the ſame Camp, as do ſome Regiments of Britiſh Dragoons to ſupport the right Wing of the Britiſh Foot. General Ligonier's Regiment, the laſt of our Cavalry, comes into the Camp To-morrow, and is to be followed by the Line of the Hanover Cavalry.

Maeſtricht, June 4, N. S. On the 30th of May the Fourth Diviſion of the Heſſian Troops, conſiſting of General Greefendorff and Count Iſenburg's Regiments of Horſe, under the Command of General Greefendorff, paſſed the Maeze at this Place; and on the 1ſt Inſtant they were followed by the Fifth and laſt Diviſion of the Regiment of Horſe Guards and Prince Maximilian's Regiment of Cavalry. The Head of the Heſſian is now at Levenich, and the Rear at Aix-la-Chapelle.

Hanover, June 4, N. S. An Expreſs came in this Morning from Caſſel, with the agreeable News, that her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs of Heſſe was Yeſterday ſafely delivered of a Prince, and that both her Royal Highneſs and the Child are in perfect Health. Prince William of Heſſe arrived here this Evening about Eight o'Clock.

Bruſſels, June 5, N. S. On the 3d of this Month the Deputy Governor General Count Konigſegg Erps went in State to the principal Church of this Town, where the Te Deum was ſung on the Occaſion of the Queen of Hungary's Birth-day, her Coronation at Prague, and the Succeſs of the ſecond Action this Spring againſt the Bavarians on the 19th paſt at Dingelfing and Landau. This was, as uſually, performed under a triple Diſcharge of the Cannon, and repeated at Eight in the Evening. This Day the Britiſh Regiment of Brag is marched back for Oſtend, to remain there for a Guard to the heavy Artillery. My Lord George Sackville, who commanded that Regiment, ſet out this Day for Spa. The Earl of Hume, Lord John Hay, Brigadier Campbell, and other Officers, are alſo ſet out for the Army in Germany, whither the Earl of Dunmore repaired with all his Baggage and Equipages on Saturday laſt the 1ſt Inſtant.

Hague, June 7. Count Maurice of Naſſau, Baron Cronſtrom, and ſome other Generals of the Republick, were in Conference this Morning with the Council of State, to regulate ſeveral Things in order to the March of the intended Auxiliary Corps to the Army upon the Mein.
